About Sizer

Sizer Technologies enables uniform vendors, on-line retailers and made-to-measure businesses to fit their customers with unprecedented accuracy. The Sizer patented platform encourages people not to pick garments by selecting a number, but captures a person's body measurements with extreme accuracy, using just the front camera of any mobile device and then delivers correct size recommendations for each garment selected.

With Sizer, workwear vendors experience savings on time, substantial costs, and the inconvenience of employee uniform fittings, and benefit from much more efficient & sustainable processes.

Amid COVID-19, Sizer's technology provides an immediate "contact-free" solution for companies to instantly measure and fit thousands of their employees 24/7, at home, without the need for any manual measurements to be physically taken or to try on a previously worn sample size sets.
